DWARFING ROOT STOCKS

Dwarfing root stocks available in this nursery are E. M. (East Malling) VII and IX. The E. M. VII is the so-called semi-dwarf, giving a tree about 10 to 12 feet tall, while the E. M. IX is the true dwarf, giving a tree six to eight feet tall.

We have no root stock for sale.

A few cautions should be noted in planting dwarf apple trees no matter on what root stock they are budded. They should never be set too deep in the orchard or garden. Carefully observe the knot or joint where the variety or top of the tree joins the root stock and carefully set this joint above ground for if roots develop above this joint the tree will grow to normal or standard size. In our nursery we are trying to make this union at least six inches above ground so that the tree can be set a few inches lower than in the nursery row.

Trees grown on E. M. IX are rather brittle and may break off above the ground in high winds. So these trees should be supported by a stake or trellis. Trees on E. M. VII need no support. Trees on E. M. IX are best adapted to home gardens. While trees on E. M. VII are adapted for either home or commercial orchards.

PRICES for this group of trees are $4.00 each for one year, unbranched whips (when available) and $5.00 each for older trees. Shipping costs are extra. When ten or more trees are ordered at the same time, a 20 percent discount is allowed.

Most trees can be shipped by parcel post, and with an extra charge of 25 or 35 cents, called special handling, will usually arrive about as fast as first class mail.

May we suggest when you order trees, that you indicate whether, if we are out of the age trees which you order, we shall substitute the other age trees. This will lessen the need for correspondence.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of January 11, I am sending you two copies of our 1963 Sales List of Dwarf apple trees. It contains 142 different varieties. Our 1962 list contained 116. We have a total of some 160 odd different varieties in our Nursery.

Sincerely yours

Henry T. Converse
